Volume 1
Craft Beverages

Carefully complementing your menu with a planned beverage selection that includes more than the usual suspects is a smart way to impress customers.

Coffee and tea are becoming the preferred choices over soda for a caffeine kick, especially appealing when made to order in a classy press. Custom beverages are not just for the bar...think fruit teas, tea lattes, and flavored hot or iced coffee.

Craft beers, whether from a local brewery or made in-house, deserve to go beyond the standard pint glass with specialized shapes that enhance the different tastes. Crafty cocktails draw attention from across the room. The modern mixologist can incorporate more than traditional mixers with homemade or seasonal juices that are just as refreshing on their own.
A craft brewer is small, independent, and traditional. In the U.S.A, it is a brewer producing 6 million barrels of beer or less annually, is less than 25% owned or controlled by an industry member who is not a craft brewer, and has at least 50% of its volume in malt beers.

Contemporary Dining

On any social media platform you see a variety of pictures from in and around restaurants. These images are a visual souvenir that not only encourage return visits, but also become free advertising to draw in new customers. Make sure your menu items always look their most appealing with dinnerware in simple themes and colors that create a stunning backdrop. Don’t forget those group shots and selfies—modern yet casual furniture visible in the background appeals to the younger generations with important spending power.

The steady rise of foodie culture, propelled by celebrity chefs, cooking shows, food blogs, and social media, equals higher expectations for more than just taste. Finishing touches go a long way in the educated and discriminating eyes of today's customer, with preparation and presentation being the key to success.

Revolutionary plating tools elevate dishes to another level with minimal effort. Finishing items tableside or in buffet action-stations make the customer feel included while allowing the opportunity for personalization. Stylish metal accents on buffets provide appealing contrast and change from traditional set-ups.

Create several action stations in your dining area as a fun alternative to the traditional buffet. Allows guests to socialize and dine at their leisure while sampling a variety of flavorful foods.
No matter what type of cuisine, cast iron exudes the feeling of a hearty meal cooked by fire. Fresh ingredients, classic preparation methods, and a timeless material all come together to enhance the rustic appeal of the staple dishes people crave. Cast iron and cook-and-serve dishes in fun, functional forms give that traditional touch to appetizers and serve as the perfect place for modern, small plate versions of menu favorites. Serving pieces and flatware with a hammered texture appear handmade for another spin on classic made current. Wood serving boards and underliners add earthy textures to your presentation in an unexpected way.
CAST IRON MINI SERVERS & COOKWARE

Farm-to-Table

With the farm-to-table trend in full swing, it is not enough to just have locally sourced ingredients—it is what you do with those items, and how you show it, that will keep your customers coming back. House-made items that take advantage of special ingredients are a must, from clever juices to unique condiments and garnishes. Choose serving pieces that accentuate farm-fresh colors, and offer sampler platters that tease the senses and complement those craft brews. Consideration must be taken even in the back of the house, where using specialized prep equipment ensures the star components of your menu are kept at their best.
Embers distinguishes itself with a spiced surface developed using a reactive glaze technique.

BOSQUE® EMBERS BOWLS
The reverse-spattered design, dark on the rim yet brightly peppered within the bowl, leaves Embers seasoned with color and texture, taking Bosque deeper into its original woodland. Available in Chestnut (9980), Goldenrod (9981) and Moss (9982). Made in the USA.

Both food allergies and foodborne contamination can lead to serious and, in some cases, life-threatening illness. Taking safety precautions by incorporating Allergen Management into your operation goes hand-in-hand with implementing food safety practices.

Keeping separate Allergen-Free, color coded measuring cups in your kitchen can reduce the risk of cross-contact and accidental exposure to allergens during the preparation process.

Foodservice operators can minimize risk by incorporating Allergen Management through personalization and color coding.

Create an allergen-free final prep area to protect your sensitive customers.
Small spaces don’t have to mean sacrifices in quality. Equipment that takes full advantage of its footprint with multi-tasking features and functionality is an important consideration. Refrigerated prep tables aren’t only for pizza and sandwiches, allowing for menu changes in the future. Don’t forget to protect those prized farm-to-table acquisitions and craft beers by adding a security fence to your walk-in. New food pan technology makes it easier to use items anywhere around your kitchen at food-safe temperatures without needing an extra pan for ice.

Space Saving & Flexibility
SECURITY FENCE
